

Robert W. Jamison

Robert W. Jamison, CPA is a professor of accounting at the Kelley Graduate School of Management, IUPUI campus, where he has taught accounting classes since 1998. He is currently developing a business ethics curriculum for Kelley. Prior to 1998, he held positions at Ohio University, the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, and Ernst and Young. Professor Jamison has published numerous articles on the taxation of small businesses, and a popular textbook on S Corporations.

In May 2007, he taught a seminar in business ethics in Zagreb, Croatia as part of a joint MBA program between Croatia's International Graduate Business School and Indiana University. As a State employee, he is interested in AGA's efforts to improve accountability to taxpayers.